Ansell-Menards Ford Set to Take on America's Place to Race

Cornelius, NC - So far this year, the ARCA Racing Series presented by Menards season has been somewhat unpredictable. There have been first time winners and plenty of storylines. Now, with only a handful of races to go, the competitors are starting to turn up the heat during these dog days of summer.

The next stop on the ARCA Racing Series schedule is Iowa Speedway for the Prairie Meadows 200, which is located just 30 miles east of Des Moines, Iowa. Although it's a relatively new fixture on the schedule, Iowa Speedway has already developed a reputation for being a very entertaining track for both the fans and the drivers.

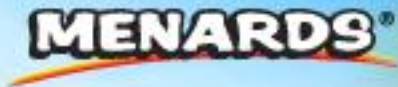

Frank Kimmel is a driver who has performed well at Iowa. He has four top-10 finishes in five starts, including one win in 2007. "Iowa's a nice little track. It's shaped almost like Richmond, and there are a few different lanes you can choose to run. It should be a good race," said Frank Kimmel.

Kimmel returns to Iowa Speedway for the Prairie Meadows 200 this weekend in hopes of becoming the first two-time winner at the track in the ARCA Racing Series presented by Menards. If accomplished, it would add to the ever-growing list of accolades Frank Kimmel has gathered over the years. It won't be an easy task, but if there's one driver in the ARCA Racing Series presented by Menards field who can do it – it would be nine time champion Frank Kimmel.

Last weekend, Kimmel finished 8th at Berlin Raceway. Frank started the race in the 16th position and looked very comfortable behind the wheel at one of his favorite tracks. He ran as high as 3rd place, but a late race incident ruined what could have been a victory lane bound No. 44 Ansell-Menards Ford. "It was unfortunate that we got tangled up there at the end. I really thought we had an Ansell-Menards Ford capable of running down the leader," concluded Frank.

This Saturday, Frank Kimmel will try to steer his way to victory at "America's Place to Race" in the Prairie Meadows 200.
